From: Matthew Lambert

Principal: SemiCab Inc.
Bond No.: 10118662
Claim No.: AHD-0008281
Dear Scott Noerr,
Please be advised that Cashin Spinelli & Ferretti, LLC has been retained by Hudson Insurance Company ("Hudson") to administer claims arising from bonds issued by Hudson in its ICC bond program. As such, we are in receipt of the claim you submitted on behalf of Norlin Warehousing Services, Inc. and Noerr Trucking LLC ("Noerr") against the FORM BMC-84 bond issued by Hudson on behalf of its Principal, SemiCab Inc. ("SemiCab"). You filed a claim comprised of three invoices, two of which covered the daily truck rates for 30 trucks each at $1,160/day between April 17-21, 2023 and April 24-28, 2023, respectively, plus Fuel Service Charges totaling $3,881.70 and $4,974.30, respectively, and one invoice for the monthly rental/warehousing of 32 trailers totaling $17,550. Your aggregate claim was in the amount of $96,006.

In counterclaim to the above charges, SemiCab has claimed that it inappropriately paid Noerr in excess of $165,000 for Noerr Invoice Nos.:

904437
904516
904480
904620
904636
904766
904870

All the above invoices totaled $167,550 and covered the costs for storage and/or monthly rentals of 53 ft trailers. Although SemiCab previously paid these invoices, they claim that in a subsequent audit of their accounts, SemiCab discovered that they should not have paid these charges because the SemiCab Carrier Agreement executed with Noerr with an effective date on or about May 9, 2022 (the "Carrier Agreement") did not provide for the payment of stored or monthly rental of trailers. Additionally, the parties dispute whether subsequent proposed addenda to the Carrier Agreement were ever signed by both parties. Therefore, whether or not any terms in proposed addenda circulated subsequent to the execution of the Carrier Agreement modified the Agreement is disputed by the parties.

As a result of the above facts, SemiCab is claiming an offset to Noerr's outstanding invoices by the amounts SemiCab previously overpaid Noerr, such that the offset would exceed the Bond claim from Noerr and that Noerr would actually owe SemiCab money.

Hudson issued Bond No. 10118662 to SemiCab to validate its FMCSA-BMC 84 License. The bond may be liable if the principal has not paid or caused to be paid to motor carriers or shippers, by motor vehicle, any sum or sums for which the Principal may be held legally liable by reason of the Principal's failure faithfully to perform, fulfill, and carry out all contracts, agreements, and arrangements made by the Principal. However, as we alerted you in our initial claim acknowledgment notice dated August 17, 2023, federal law governs the times when a Surety may make payment of a claim under its FMCSA-BMC 84 Bond. Particularly, 49 U.S.C. §13906, provides as follows:

(2) SCOPE OF FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY.— (A) PAYMENT OF CLAIMS.—A surety bond, trust fund, or other financial security obtained under paragraph (1) shall be available to pay any claim against a broker arising from its failure to pay freight charges under its contracts, agreements, or arrangements for transportation subject to jurisdiction under chapter 135 if—

(i) subject to the review by the surety provider, the broker consents to the payment;

(ii) in any case in which the broker does not respond to adequate notice to address the validity of the claim, the surety provider determines that the claim is valid; or

(iii) the claim is not resolved within a reasonable period of time following a reasonable attempt by the claimant to resolve the claim under clauses (i) and (ii), and the claim is reduced to a judgment against the broker.

In this case, SemiCab has not only not consented to the Surety's payment of Noerr's claim, but it has responded to the claim asserting a defense to it. The Surety finds that SemiCab has a reasonable basis for defending against the claim. Please understand that the Surety does not serve as an arbiter or judge of contested claims. Thus, under (2)(A)(iii) of the statute referenced above, Noerr will need to either try to settle your claim with SemiCab or present us with a judgment from a court of law in your favor against SemiCab for us to consider your claim further.

We continue to expressly reserve all of the rights and defenses available under the bond and at law. Nothing herein or throughout the course of our communication should be construed as an admission of liability, nor as a waiver of any and/or all defenses available to the principal and surety under the bond and at law. In fact, we expressly reserve all of the rights and defenses available to the surety and/or SemiCab, in equity and at law, including its rights to offsets and counter-claims which may be available to the surety or its principal.

Respectfully,

Nothing herein or throughout the course of our communication should be construed as an admission of liability, nor as a waiver of any and/or all defenses available to the principal and surety under the bond and at law. Any claim for nonpayment, underpayment, or undercharges must be presented to SemiCab within one hundred and eighty (180) days from the date the freight was delivered. Carrier hereby waives any rights it has to payment for freight charges arising under this Agreement, should Carrier fail to present SemiCab with an invoice or written request for payment within one hundred and eighty (180) days from the date the freight was delivered. Re: Letter Dated January 24, 2024 re: Baxter Bailey & Associates v. Hill's Pet Nutrition, Inc., Petsmart, Inc. and Semicab Inc.; Amount $92,877.61 ("Demand Letter")

Dear Mr. Davison,

We are in receipt of the above-referenced Demand Letter pertaining to payment for certain Hill's Pet Nutrition shipments to Petsmart, Inc. performed by Semicab Inc. In response to your Demand Letter, Hill's Pet Nutrition, Inc. ("Hill's") directs you to contact SemiCab, Inc. ("Semicab") with respect to any payment disputes between such parties.

Hill's shipments with SemiCab are governed under a Master Transportation Services Agreement ("Agreement") pursuant to which use of a Uniform Bill of Lading acts solely as a Receipt evidencing custody, kind, quantity and condition of transported goods. The Agreement stipulates that except as expressly set forth therein, no Receipt, guide or other document or publication used by SemiCab shall have any application to the transported goods. Hill's is therefore not subject to any terms and conditions contained in the Uniform Bill of Lading referenced in your Demand Letter.

Further, Hill's is not a party to any agreement with Noerr Trucking, LLC. Notwithstanding the invalidity of the terms and conditions contained therein, the Receipts issued to by Semicab to Hill's for the shipments in question list Hill's Pet Nutrition, Inc. as the Shipper, Petsmart DC as the Consignee and Semicab as the Carrier; there is no reference to Noerr Trucking LLC anywhere on the Receipt.

For the reasons stated above, Hill's is not liable for any payment obligations Semicab purportedly has with your client. Hill's affirms it is not in default of any payment obligations to Semicab. Hill's has provided Semicab with a copy of your Demand Letter and is cc'd on this response.

Sincerely,

Marshall McGinnis

Gave you everything you wanted. I think it works. Our daily cost is right around $870. So, with $60 in fuel, 930 is the break even, so $30 gives us not much wiggle room - but at least the trailer costs are now yours!

If we get this signed, I can probably get another 20 trailers within 2 weeks.

Thanks for working with us on this Scott and for getting back to us so quickly. Understanding where this leaves you financially was a huge help for me, and I appreciate the partnership.

Overall, looks good with a few changes:

- Miles: changed from all miles, to loaded miles x 2, with a maximum of 20% out of route miles (loaded miles X 2.4)
- Extra Units: Short: $550, Long $750

Please reply and confirm that you accept these changes.

Thanks again,

Gave you everything you wanted. I think it works. Our daily cost is right around $870. So, with $60 in fuel, 930 is the break even, so $30 gives us not much wiggle room - but at least the trailer costs are now yours!

If we get this signed, I can probably get another 20 trailers within 2 weeks.

I just wanted you to have this in writing, and thank you for sharing the comparisons with me.

I know I don't have exact numbers given I don't have all the data, but I know we can be somewhat comparable. Rachel and Lynne are running those numbers early next week and we should have a solid basis early.

Outliers and unknowns to be addressed are:

The detention and stop fees.
Trailer capacity and costs.

Worked out the fuel this morning.

Fuel cost - $5.82 / gal, average is 5.7mpg - or $1.02 / mile.
Based on the US FSC sheet we'd get FSC based on $5.568 - national average - or $.70.

So - does that mean Ryder is charging you $928 a day, plus FSC based on actual miles and all those other fees?

Sorry, trying to wrap my head around their contract you shared. It looks like the day rate of $928 + FSC & fees. But I could be wrong, just want to clarify.

Thanks for your email, Scott. I appreciate it.

Yes, here's where I'm looking to get to:

$4,640 guaranteed weekly rate $928/day. This covers 2,000 mi/week. Above 2,000 mi/week is paid at a rate of $2.32/mi.

FSC - based on nat'l avg and paid on all miles.

+ Fees

"All miles" - this is where I think we should define what this is and is not. This seemed to be where the biggest questions were with the current contract, so I want to get ahead of this and lay it out for the leadership so we have a clear understanding and alignment.

Ok - came up with some options - the FSC is, in my opinion, a terrible way to do it.

If we do actual fuel, not only do you get to see the discounts, but see the actual price / performance of each truck / mile etc. Right now, we are using the FSC, and eating ~$.30 of each mile. Effectively $120 a day.

My thought process on a per truck & trailer basis:
1) Discount the day rate down to an agreed upon number close to / akin to Ryder, with a deeper discount for trucks over the 5 mark.

2) Do actual fuel cost and actual miles x $.12 (and provide documentation of both).
3) Track the waiting times at shipper receiver so you can charge for it, no charges from us.
4) No overage charges like Ryder.

This enables us to do a few things:
1) Contracted price to have the trucks is static.
2) Mile cost is exact - and you get the discounts we get on fuel cards if any.
3) You can recoup detention costs with no extra charge from us.
4) You won't get charged $2.32 a mile over 2000, just exact fuel & lease costs (which is ~$1.12 / mile, depending on the week).

Our average trailer cost right now is $600 / month + $.08 / mile (that includes insurance). So anything above 1 trailer would then have to be calculated additional.

Thoughts?

Hey Scott,

Thanks for putting this together. I wanted to at least acknowledge receipt. I appreciate your patience; I've been out unexpectedly.

I'm open to any and all options, and just wanted to plug these scenarios into an analysis to see what they would look like. If we used June and July actuals, I'd like to see what that would have looked like for both of us.

My initial thoughts around covering fuel is that we would need to establish some type of efficiency targets and implement limiters. I'm not sure how accurate the speed data is that we're receiving via ELD, but based on the data I'm seeing, fuel costs could be lower with controlled speeds. Because fuel efficiency (speed, equipment, driver habits) are not in our control, it gives me pause, but let's still go down this path. Is there any reason to believe the speeds I'm seeing is inaccurate? Is this the same data transmitted to FMCSA?

Let's plug some of these scenarios into my template and see what they look like. I should be back in the office on Wednesday.

Thanks again.

Good question!

I'll run those with Rachel & Lynne and see where we land.

As for speed - the trucks (all except the day cabs, and 49 and 59) are speed limited to 70, so I'm not sure how accurate it is, will review. (FMCSA doesn't require speed data).

Stephen,
Rachel combed through the stats for the month, and we've got some interesting notes to help the contract discussion.

May Totals:
170 loads. 114 short, 56 long.
34,430 miles.
179 miles / load average.
1639 miles / day.
328 miles / truck / day.

21 billable days.
Contract Planned Optimal Volume 210 loads.
(Actually, we've figured out how to make it optimal at 12-14 a day).

- 10 outsourced loads.
- 18 loads reset due to appointment times missed (not loaded / Hill's mistakes).
- 2 loads reset due to driver issues / refused / damaged.
30 loads that could be billed.

Regardless of anything else we've talked about, there is your profit margin. 30-40 unbilled / non-dispatched loads a month, even at $500 a load is $15,000-20,000.

We are still running a ton of other numbers.

No, that was for you. What was the total billing for May? I can get it from Vivek, but I was asking since you had all of the related information in this email. For me, that's where the conversation starts. How much I am paying on a per shipment basis and can I do better.

York just informed us that they are increasing to 18/day and I'm at a decision point on how to handle the add'l volume.

If they can get appointment times better we can get more a day too - that's the sweet spot.

That sounds right. I think I remember $34.9, but I can't remember if that tied directly to the numbers you showed below.

In terms of getting more a day, I mentioned during our call on Friday that I'm spending more under this dedicated contract than going to carriers on a load by load basis. One flat rate, no all mileage charge.

I didn't disagree, but you also aren't comparing apples to apples.

You said they weren't putting 3 trailers in play per truck, and weren't doing multiple loads often, and not offering full guaranteed coverage over those single loads.

What are you guys charging per load right now? It was, initially, net positive when Jagan discussed with me initially, at $850 and $550 a load, to us, he said you guys were still comfortable with your margin over that.

Is that value still correct?

Completely agree regarding the apples to apples comparison and I do think a premium should be placed on quality service and dependability.

I'll go back and take a look at the revenue side tomorrow. Again, I don't believe we're trying to be positive on this or need to match what we're charging the shipper. I'll leave that to the Demand and Pricing teams. What I'm responsible for is the cost side of the equation and finding quality supply at a great cost. We're definitely seeing quality service but I can't say that it's at a great cost and there aren't others who can rival that at a lower cost. There should be some value in consistent, guaranteed volume and I'm not seeing that. If we were to mirror this contract for future contracts, I don't think we'd survive as a business.

Nevertheless, that we can have these transparent conversations is a huge win and breath of fresh air in my book and I'm sure we can eventually get to a place that's palatable for us both.

Thanks, Scott. I don't want to create a ton of work out of this and think we can just focus on the numbers for both of us. I started pulling some numbers together, but I need to verify that this includes the all miles…I'm not sure those have been added back to our system. Either way, if I just take a look at our average cost/shipment or average cost/loaded mile, these numbers are outrageous and I'd say we need to go back to the drawing board ASAP. Hoping I'm missing something and these numbers are WAY off. I know we can do better than this.

I think the big issue with going off a cost per mile basis is the requirement of having people available up to 18 hours a day and still complete only 2 loads. These guys could do 3 or 4 if they were scheduled properly. (I know I sound like a broken record there).

A more accurate review would be revenue generated vs cost. But we don't know those numbers on your side, just the cost. Are you open to sharing that? Lane rates and such?

Also appointment times and shipper delays cause such a huge issue profitability wise. Even just one additional load covered a day has such a huge impact on cost per shipment and mile, especially since it only adds 20 miles!

Focusing on the shorts is a huge profit booster we think.

Will have it finished tomorrow.

I hear you but at the end of the day a P&L is a P&L. Everything else is noise.

I don't want to keep focusing on our revenue. I think that's part of the issue. Don't focus on what we're making and trying to get the most out of it. And I'm not focused on what we're not making.

In terms of what we're making from Hills, you can rest assured they aren't paying &73, $28, or anything above $5/mi. I know you've been around long enough to know that and these numbers are unreal. Admittedly, I'm embarrassed. No one, absolutely no one is paying double digit costs/mi. For me, it starts and stops here.

This needs to start with the basic cost/mi compared to the market.

I understand the 18 hours availability per day, but it's not impossible to find. I moved 12k shipments per week at Convoy 24/7 with 96% on time…surely SemiCab can move 50/wk without significantly impacting service. Even if we do, the trade off in service for reduced cost is worthwhile. Let's be honest here Scott. Neither one of us are new to this.

I get you. But I'd really like to see the comparison offers akin to our contract. Or, a written offer to change ours. But you are asking us to focus all on our side of the equation, and we are willing and open, but you don't seem to be as open on the revenue side. We can run 2x the loads as we have - if given proper appointment times, and loads are ready, and there's no holdups - but nobody is addressing those inefficiencies - the only discussion is cost - when it's half the equation. There's nothing our half can do to make it run better, but cut costs.

Which is why we priced the way we did when Jagan requested and gave us target numbers. If those numbers are no longer accurate we need to know the new metrics. Not 'cheap as possible.' He said he wanted our services, our equipment, and our capacity there, and the volume would be more than enough.

The entire discussion with him was that the broker market and load boards are a rip off to truckers. Where the same load on Tuesday for next week pays $600 more next Monday because it needs to be run. A broker pockets that, you know that. He agreed, gave us target numbers based on a projected volume, and we ran with it. We are right in line with where he wanted us to be originally. We flat out said that this is our number, you can make any over that you want (hence the volume).

If those numbers on the revenue side are different, we are more than willing to look at it. But also, we shouldn't have to be the only point of interest because - like we discussed from the beginning - price shopping concerns - just to make the broker more by having someone cheaper do it. That wasn't the point of the entire contract development. The point was for us to be stable, and SemiCab to set up the max volume capacity and make whatever extra they could.

We've been stable and consistent. The volume hasn't. The appointments haven't. The unload times haven't. The load readiness hasn't. There's much more to this that is being overlooked in my opinion, and it should all be on the table, not just a cost per mile.

Let's get everyone on a call Friday once the data is available.

We just looked at your numbers - they aren't accurate - so there must be something that is missing 100%. How did you come up with these?

Thanks, Scott. This is just what's in our data system, but I wasn't entirely sure what's been reconciled. Vivek just provided me what he has for May, with the exception of 5/30 & 5/31 which he hasn't processed yet. He did say that he's not matching up to your 170 loads, so let me go through his data this afternoon and we'll reconcile. Off the top of my head, I know that I pull reports by delivered shipments, but you may be pulling it differently. Let me know how you pull you reports/billing data, and I'll try to match up.

I am pulling by delivered as well. Yours looks like it is for the life of the relationship between Noerr's and SemiCab so far.

May was 171, I was probably half asleep when I first counted. :)

I am finishing up now. It gives a time n of metrics for us to work from to make this work out for all involved.

Interchange Agreement - Draft

Hey Scott. Hope you're faring well over there on your own.

As we head into this last week of the quarter and wanted to be prepared for last minute surge volume, I think we have an opportunity to limit service/equipment capacity issues from our teams by moving forward with the universal trailer pool.

If you are still open to establishing an agreement between you and Global, I'd love to move quickly on this and pilot it over the next few days/weeks. Then, if we feel for some reason that it's not working out, we can revert.

Global is aligned on signing an agreement with you but I wanted to start with you since we have a growing contractual relationship and you make up the largest % of the pool. This is the one I was using for SemiCab, so feel free to change as you see fit. Please pay special attention to Section 9 that references the State of Georgia. I'm assuming you'll want to change that to PA and Global may want to have theirs changed to NY.

If you have any questions, concerns, please don't hesitate to call me.

Thanks,

Stephen

Vivek,
There is a basis - and I will have to respectfully disagree with your assessment. Lexi has already approved previous invoices, and if you reach out to Stephen he will let you know as well, and Bryan was also on those phone calls. In the event of a lease of trailers, and more importantly, a trailer interchange, SemiCab became responsible for the repairs on said trailers. There is no way that I would ever allow someone else to haul our trailers without repair costs being assessed - period.

I point to the invoices you noted in your previous email, that Lexi has already approved, as well as multiple previous repair invoices, setting the standard for the agreement between our firms.

Please review again, and if you have any questions you can call me directly at 717-437-0437.

Thank you.

Hi Scott,

Good morning. The first two below are getting processed today (904902 and 904903). I will make sure you get the remittance details sometime during the day once the payments are processed by AP. I will also send you the updated scheduled payments for the next few weeks before EOD.

In the meantime, can you please share details on the following two invoices, “904971 PARTIAL” and “904972A”? I want to make sure we process them correctly.

Thanks!

Vivek.

Vivek,

There is a basis - and I will have to respectfully disagree with your assessment. Lexi has already approved previous invoices, and if you reach out to Stephen he will let you know as well, and Bryan was also on those phone calls. In the event of a lease of trailers, and more importantly, a trailer interchange, SemiCab became responsible for the repairs on said trailers. There is no way that I would ever allow someone else to haul our trailers without repair costs being assessed - period.

I point to the invoices you noted in your previous email, that Lexi has already approved, as well as multiple previous repair invoices, setting the standard for the agreement between our firms.

Please review again, and if you have any questions you can call me directly at 717-437-0437.

Thank you.

Vivek,
Thank you for the confirmation. We still need to address 904946 for repairs (see attached approval). In addition, 904947 was adjusted per Lexi's request, but an approval was never given for the tolls - please check with @AccountsPayable-SemiCab / Micah and confirm approval. Both were previously approved in conversations, but we only have 1 email confirmation, and 1 "hanging".

Also, still overlooking this invoice, 905166 for repairs. I've provided the requested history / basis of these repairs, and this one has fallen through the cracks.

Please advise.

Thank you.

Vivek - The attached invoices submitted to SemiCab are the correct. We slightly altered the balances in our system. Semicab approved 904971 and 904972 for the balances attached. These are the correct invoice amounts.

Vivek,

There is a basis - and I will have to respectfully disagree with your assessment. Lexi has already approved previous invoices, and if you reach out to Stephen he will let you know as well, and Bryan was also on those phone calls. In the event of a lease of trailers, and more importantly, a trailer interchange, SemiCab became responsible for the repairs on said trailers. There is no way that I would ever allow someone else to haul our trailers without repair costs being assessed - period.

I point to the invoices you noted in your previous email, that Lexi has already approved, as well as multiple previous repair invoices, setting the standard for the agreement between our firms.

Please review again, and if you have any questions you can call me directly at 717-437-0437.

Thank you.

Both were previously approved in conversations, but we only have 1 email confirmation, and 1 "hanging".

Vivek - The attached invoices submitted to SemiCab are the correct. We slightly altered the balances in our system. Semicab approved 904971 and 904972 for the balances attached. These are the correct invoice amounts.

Lexi has already approved previous invoices, and if you reach out to Stephen he will let you know as well, and Bryan was also on those phone calls. In the event of a lease of trailers, and more importantly, a trailer interchange, SemiCab became responsible for the repairs on said trailers. There is no way that I would ever allow someone else to haul our trailers without repair costs being assessed - period.

Vivek,
Thank you for the confirmation. We still need to address 904946 for repairs (see attached approval). In addition, 904947 was adjusted per Lexi's request, but an approval was never given for the tolls - please check with @AccountsPayable-SemiCab / Micah and confirm approval. Both were previously approved in conversations, but we only have 1 email confirmation, and 1 "hanging".

Also, still overlooking this invoice, 905166 for repairs. I've provided the requested history / basis of these repairs, and this one has fallen through the cracks.

Please advise.

Thank you.

Lexi has already approved previous invoices, and if you reach o to Stephen he will let you know as well, and Bryan was also on those phone calls. In the event of a lease of trailers, and more importantly, a trailer interchange, SemiCab became responsible for the repairs on said trailers. There is no way that I would ever allow someone else to haul our trailers without repair costs being assessed - period.

I point to the invoices you noted in your previous email, that Lexi has already approved, as well as multiple previous repair invoices, setting the standard for the agreement between our firms.

Please review again, and if you have any questions you can call me directly at 717-437-0437.

Vivek,

There is a basis - and I will have to respectfully disagree with your assessment. Lexi has already approved previous invoices, and if you reach to Stephen he will let you know as well, and Bryan was also on those phone calls. In the event of a lease of trailers, and more importantly, a trailer interchange, SemiCab became responsible for the repairs on said trailers. There is no way that I would ever allow someone else to haul our trailers without repair costs being assessed - period.

I point to the invoices you noted in your previous email, that Lexi has already approved, as well as multiple previous repair invoices, setting the standard for the agreement between our firms.

Please review again, and if you have any questions you can call me directly at 717-437-0437.

Thank you.

Last week, Bobby picked this trailer up to deliver in York and found this hole at the top of the trailer. It appears a hinge was ran into and punctured the corner.

Trailer has been dropped at Keystone for repairs.

Thanks for copying me in.

Rachel, thanks for the communication. Just a few questions as we work on building an effective trailer management program.

What does this mean for SemiCab? Is this an update on an out of service trailer or is there a question around the source of damage and financial responsibility?

Will this get updated on the tracker? Do you have an estimate of when it will be back in service? Can we block this trailer off in the tracker for the estimated downtime? Is there a replacement trailer to keep the pool whole or will we be -1? If there's a replacement trailer, let's identify the specific unit in the tracker.

After the holiday, let's start documenting the process for handling damage claims. How will we handle when the damaging party is known? Not known? Let's outline the scenarios where SemiCab would be liable.

Thanks again. Call with questions.

Followups:

> What does this mean for SemiCab? Is this an update on an out of service trailer or is there a question around the source of damage and financial responsibility?

As a lease trailer - liability goes from owner -> 1st lease (us) -> subsequent leasee (SemiCab) -> the damager (York facility we believe)

> Will this get updated on the tracker? Do you have an estimate of when it will be back in service? Can we block this trailer off in the tracker for the estimated downtime? Is there a replacement trailer to keep the pool whole or will we be -1? If there's a replacement trailer, let's identify the specific unit in the tracker.

We can put a note on the tracker to show out of service, and when we get an estimate from the repair shop we can add ETA.
There is not a replacement trailer for the pool, unless you want to lease one - that would be nearly impossible to create a solution like that cost effectively.

> After the holiday, let's start documenting the process for handling damage claims. How will we handle when the damaging party is known? Not known? Let's outline the scenarios where SemiCab would be liable.

Liability (from a legal standpoint) goes as above. So, effectively, who damaged it is liable. Repair billing would go SHOP -> Norlin -> SemiCab -> Liable Party. (If we are liable, we just eliminate the last 2).

Hi Scott,

Our audit of your invoices is complete. Per the addendum signed on Nov 14 2022, the dedicated truck rates were changed to $960 per day and the extra load charges were defined as well.

All your invoices for dedicated trucks after Nov 14 have been overcharging us for trucks at the rate of $1,160 per day as against the contracted rate of $960. We also found that all extra loads for long-haul (>71 miles) were also overcharged at the rate of $800 instead of the contracted rate of $750.

Please see the summary sheet for total overcharged amount. After adjusting for the unpaid invoices and overcharged amount over the last few months, a total amount of $48,922.95 is owed to us. Please submit this payment by end of the day October 6, 2023.

The following documents used in the audit are attached.

- Copy of the contract addendum signed Nov 14. “Addendum to Broker Carrier Agreement for Noerr Trucking 11.14.22_Signed.pdf”.
- “Noerr Overcharge Analysis.pdf” – Summary of invoices where we were overcharged at a rate of $1,160 per truck per day instead of $960 per the contract in force from Nov 14, 2022. There are a total of 34 invoices overcharged and paid, and 2 invoices overcharged, but yet to be paid.
- The attached zip file has all the copies of invoices that are mentioned in the pdf file above for your reference and verification.

Please make arrangement for the payment by October 6, 2023.

Thanks,

AP.

Unfortunately, this could now be considered fraud. We did not utilize this contract, and reverted from this contract for multiple reasons. I've attached the other contract from the same email this one was derived from.

1) I did not agree to the edit / countersign made by Jagan, and it was never signed AFTER that. In fact, this was sent out via docusign, and never came back. The PDF would be locked if so. Meaning, it was edited on your end, and never sent back.
2) SemiCab claims they did not commit to the TRAILER LEASE CONTRACT, which would still charge you (see LEASE TERM OF 24 MONTHS), and the rates on the contracts were changed due to this.
3) You have refused to pay for trailer repairs, which is noted in the lease agreement.
4) You continued to add additional units, but didn't want to update terms.
5) SemiCab did not provide a first right of refusal and used other carriers.
6) You approved all of the invoices, repeatedly, with multiple requests and copies that can be provided, throughout the entire process, and agreed you still owe $92,000 to the insurance bond agent.
7) Per your contract, we are more than 180 days past any of these invoices, meaning anything before April 4th you have no opportunity to audit or change. Meaning the following changes are void and the only ones we could address are the last 2.

Hi all,
To follow up on this, I took some time to calculate the payables if you do choose to recognize one contract, you also need to use the other contract that was sent together. Hope this helps you make a decision with more clarity.

6.1.23 through 11.1.23 = 6 months.
11.1.23 through 11.1.24 = 12 months.

Now - 30% of these were on shorter term leases, so you'd only be responsible for 30 trailers for all 18 months, and 20 trailers for the next 6.

30 trailers at 18 months = 540 months.
20 trailers at 6 months = 120 months.

$600 x 660 months = $396,000 due.

I'd be happy to settle for that, and not add the actual repair and mileage charges from those time periods as well.

Please advise.

Thank you.

Scott,

Please note that we have not received detailed account statement from you to be able to reconcile our accounts. While we have provided to you a complete list of invoices to be paid with amounts, credits if any and details of payments made earlier that would be adjusted.

The board has asked us to hire an external agency to conduct a complete audit on all invoices from your company due to discrepancies internal accounting team found and our inability to reconcile with you. We have shortlisted an audit company to conduct this audit and would soon be finalizing the SOW.

Please expect this process to start soon and this agency to contact you for further details.

Ajesh,
We provided confirmation of previous payments and final status of outstanding invoices (which were already approved and recognized by your team) in multiple communications. I see here that you are referencing the difference of credits paid on a specific invoice. I would be willing to accept your final disbursement of $92,877.61 and consider accounts closed and other debt written off. I understand your desire to have an audit internally - that is your prerogative and on your own time. However, these invoices were approved 3 months ago, and you've had plenty of time to review. Your team approved them, and subsequently noted that they were approved and due in multiple following communications. It is not our responsibility to wait while you conduct your audit over less than 4% of an invoice.

I have already submitted a claim to Hudson this morning per last week's email. Pending that investigation I will be filing criminal charges for all outstanding invoices. If remittance is made today to ACH tomorrow I will forgo both actions.

Thank you.

Thanks for sending this over Scott. I made a few minor changes that can be found here, but overall, I don't see any issues with getting this signed quickly. Before signing, I'd like to ask you to complete the Leased Trailer Details Tracker with the requested details for each unit. It's extremely important we keep this live updated with the correct numbers for proper billing and utilization assessments.

In addition, with significantly declining market rates, increased trailer costs, and limited opportunities to maximize truck utilization and empty backhauls, we are now in a position where the initial contract rates and terms are no longer sustainable, and we will need to move forward with the agreed upon rates and terms discussed back in August 2022 Addendum found here. The addendum has been adjusted to an effective date of November 1, 2022, through the initial contract end date of May 9, 2022.

Feel free to call with questions or concerns. As always, I appreciate your support and partnership.

This needs to get in place to make us both legal from what we've been reading at the DOT level. This will avoid the double brokering / trailer interchange issues we've had to address.

Mostly ok with these changes - but will review with my spreadsheet in the morning.

Few notes:
1) Would have to change the trailer lease to reflect all 50 trailers, not 35, there are no longer 15 included in the day rate.
2) We are still eating $1.31 / gal of fuel because the national fuel surcharge rate doesn't account for $1.20 of base rate fuel, AND the actual price we pay vs the national average is $.11 different.
3) We have 6 on contract, not 5.

Trailers to be billed up to 50 @ 600+$70 insurance + ALL COSTS. That does include tracking and I will make sure to note that.
Up to 10 more at $705 + 5% + $70 insurance.
$960 a day per truck. He said 5 trucks.

Wants this to be starting this week.

Also - 2 other things
1) I noticed that you have miles loaded x2.3. We've talked about this before - it doesn't reflect accurately for where we are allowed to stay and if thing, plus all the deadhead we've had to do to get out of route / extra loads out of York. It needs to remain all miles.
2) The last paragraph - not extending the contract is ok - frustrating - but ok, but the right of first refusal should stay.

I will review fuel options in the morning.

Trailer Count & Damaged Trailers

Good morning,

Following up on our meeting last week, I have 2 asks for today.

1. Can I see a list of all trailers in the pool as of this morning? If you don't already have it, I'd like to see a tab in your existing sheet with all the trailer numbers, trailer year, and if it is equipped with GPS.
2. Of those, how many are red tagged/damaged? For the damages, please add a column for estimated repair cost and back in service date?

Thanks very much. If I can get number 2 asap this morning, that would be great. I'm having a meeting with the leadership team this morning on all the potential stolen and damaged trailer liabilities. We also have an Emporia trailer that was supposedly broken into and product stolen over the weekend, so I'd like to provide a full update and action plan.

Lexie, would you please confirm the actual date we can begin seeing the Trailer numbers in the shipments? I'll ask Vivek to create a quick report so we can show we're tracking and can start using that to monitor counts and utilization.

Thanks,
Stephen

Good morning everyone,

I have been entering trailer #s, all loads might not have them as some loads are delivering before I get the chance to enter the trailer #. I have talked with Rachel about this, neither her or the drivers have a way to enter the trailer # from their end.

I am fighting Hills every day to send the trailer #s on time, however, they aren't sending them until the next morning. Any loads that delivered before I get in, will not have the trailer #s. Per Rachel and Is conversation, the drivers are not tech savvy enough to wait for me to enter the trailer # before marking the load delivered. I am at a stopping point – any suggestions are welcome.

@rachel@noerr-inc.com I have added columns to the trailer track spreadsheet to begin tracking with Stephens below request

Hope this helps

Thanks,

There are 50 down there this week.

NOR42 & NOR44 just came out today for tire replacement.
Lexi just sent an email with damage to one of the trailers we will have to get that one red tagged.
NOR58 is getting a door fixed and is at Milestone in York for repair - That went down yesterday as well.

Sorry its been a crazy week and haven't had time to give update on what trailers are getting repaired. Next week we have a new staff member starting and she will be assisting with these types of things once we get her trained up.

Hey Rachel and Kesia,

While going through and updating all the trailers that were loaded from 11/28 I noticed some discrepancies, please see below.

NOR116 shows removed from the pool, but I show it was loaded on shipment 7001228133.

NOR113 shows red tagged, but I show loaded on shipment 7001239004.

NOR98 shows loaded, but Im not seeing it on our trailer list.

Can you please provide some insight/feedback when you get the chance?

Thanks,

NOR116 - brought back down Monday....driver did not tell us - I will handle this one

NOR113 - is red tagged or was - that is the one with the damage down the side and we were waiting for other trailers to come back in the pull to pull it out completely - still driveable so... it is still technically able to be used until these other trailers are picked up and brought back into the pool tomorrow
NOR98 - brought in on Monday - I knew about this one but forgot about it this morning when I was updating

NOR 42, 45, 61 and 87 will all be back in the pool tomorrow. Justin is shuttling those back over to Hills from repair.

York - Universal Trailer Pool

Hi Rachel & Scott,

Reaching out to revisit the conversation around transitioning to a universal trailer pool. The Hill's leadership team has requested that we transition to a single carrier to eliminate the operational burden around load to trailer assignment. However, we believe it would be best to transition to a universal trailer pool to generate the needed efficiencies and flexibility.

With +90% the trailers belonging to Noerr, I wanted to see what you would need from us to make this happen and if we would be able to make this happen within the next week. At a minimum, I would love to have this in place by the time we meet with the Hill's team in York during the week of 8/8.

Let me know your thoughts. Any concerns?

Thanks,
Stephen

What's your # requirement? I believe this can be accomplished.

Additional items would be financial and insurance. But how many are you expecting there?

Also, we will have the ability to do single carrier source too. We will have enough units to cover - which leads into the other thread we are working through.

Right now, the expectation is for us to get to 45 and I'm trying to get there through your pool of trailers, as well as leases and purchases.

However, if we're able to pull this off, I think we'll see a bigger and much faster surge in volume as York continues to ramp up. We're definitely see month over month increases in volume.

And I heard you all hit are scheduled to hit a high of 58 this week!! That was great news to come back to today. Great work by Rachel and Lex.

Good question. This would still leave a gap in weekend coverage. We've been rejecting weekend tenders and need to get as close to 100% tender acceptance as possible. This is one of the key differentiators for SemiCab.

In my previous roles, single source was highly desirable, however, I've had to shift my mindset since joining SemiCab. I think that's the exact opposite of what we want to do. As we continue to grow our presence, we want to continue testing and building dedicated capacity within a certain geography rather than specific lanes or shippers.

Would love to hear your thoughts on this.

Don't disagree. Havjgn a backup is definitely a plus. But we do have extra capacity just trying to balance SemiCab needs.

I think we can have at least 40 down there. We have also been using only 6 of our trucks, so there's more capacity there that can be utilized too.

Need to address the elephant of cost in the room though.

Agreed.

Regarding the 6th truck, I'm not sure the cost structure needs to be completely different as long as the volume is there and you can move that volume. Similar to the first 5 units, we need to hit roughly 40+ shipments/truck/week. If we can't get it through Hills, we need the flexibility to fill the gaps with demand from another shipper within the radius.

I'm thinking maybe I set a target number of shipments before we put a power unit on contract. Until we hit that target, we would cover costs on a shipment by shipment basis. In general, we just want to align supply with demand as much as possible. I think it's simple as that. If we didn't have the 6th unit, that's what we would be doing anyway. The only other thing I'd want to ensure is that we maximized productivity of the first 5 units.

Totally got sidetracked. So back to the trailer issue. I'm wondering if this is as simple as you acting as our trailer lease provider and establish the same type of lease agreement we'd have with a lease provider such as Premier or one of the other providers.

I'll go back and pull the most recent cost estimates I have from them and a few others. I believe they were all around $500/month and included insurance and GPS tracking. Don't quote me in the insurance though. Let me dig up the estimates.

Stephen,
Did some work on capacity this past week, and figured out some pricing.

We can currently provide 37 trailers, and we are adding more as we can find it. A target to get this to 45 asap, and, as we discussed, 70 over time, correct?

We'd have to mirror those leases as we come into them (as far as term), and can provide all the support behind the repairs, maintenance, and insurance of them. If that aggregate number changes, we'd have to adjust the pricing on a moving scale. Currently, insurance & lease is ~$600 a month each, and terms range from 18 months to 48 months.

We can currently put 8 units on, with 2 more being added over the next 3 weeks, and 1-2 local flex units in support. We will be able to cover 25 loads a day on average. To do this we would drop the daily rate, but as we discussed, do actual fuel cost (with a target 6 MPG + .12 / mile lease costs).

I think we should consider renewing the contract with new terms more akin to everything we've discussed on and offline to make it more palatable for both teams.

Let me know your schedule this week to link up.

Thanks!

Yeah. Our warehouse is currently 99% full. We lease 90% to other clients, and maintain dock access and about 2,000 sqft of storage ourself anymore.

We are in the process of build to suit of ~415,000 sqft in Mifflin and Juniata County, and when the Juniata County one finishes, we would have 2 buildings, 36,000 and 10,000, available for additional projects.

It isn't great - but it isn't expensive. 12-14' clear, 20x25 spacing, dry sprinkler and heat, 4 docks, and a history of doing it since 1967 here!

Hey Scott,

I think we're good to be in a bit of a holding pattern here while I generate alternatives. The addendum is completely different than the direction we're looking to go in and I decided to hold off on sharing with the leadership team. I'd like to have a plan A, B, and C, and I'm not going to make the same mistake of rushing into a contract that wasn't well thought out.

If we can sustain performance and costs similar to July, I'd prefer to argue to keep your current rates.

Regarding the trailers, I opened the meeting on Tuesday aligning that we would treat them separate from the tractors, but I see you decided to include it as a package deal, signaling that you may not want to play the role of trailer provider and that's understandable.

That being said, let's keep everything as is, and I'm going to move forward with re-engaging Ryder to see how we can best utilize both of you. My contact is here in Atlanta so I'm hoping to meet with him before I head up there on Tuesday afternoon and then we can hash things out next week.

In the meantime, I've stated before that I think it's completely fair for you to charge SemiCab for trailers above and beyond the 3 trailers per contracted power unit.

Thanks,
Stephen

Sounds good - we can do that.
Will be 20 units added at the $600 / month plus insurance.

I'm also open to recreating that addendum to see where you wanted to go - that was just my thought process to get things started.

Ok, sounds good. 2 things:

1. Apologies if my past communications haven't been clear. I thought I laid out exactly what I'm looking for. Standardization across my entire carrier network with at the rates and structure we received from Ryder. $4640 guaranteed for 2K miles, $2.32/mi above 2K miles + FSC. + incidentals + trailer costs. To me, this seemed like a win for you. If this seems like it would be a big decrease from what you're receiving today, I'd love to understand how. Educate me.

2. For the trailers, I want to be transparent that I would eventually look for more competitive rates unless I can understand and justify the higher cost. All of the quotes I received have been $450-$500. Yours is $600 + insurance. But I'm not sure if I'm comparing apples to apples. Is this a pass through cost or is there margin baked in? Or is it just a matter of not being able to compete with major trailer lease providers due to the sheer volume they are moving. This is not a huge issue and I'd rather give the business to you, I just want to fully understand the inputs and justify the add'l cost. The only exception I'd ask for is a reduced rate on any unit where GPS is inactive/inoperable for more than 5 days. At the $450-$500 rate, GPS was guaranteed.

Hopefully I've shown that I am committed to this relationship, seeking to understand and being full transparency to ensure we're both successful. I've opened our books and kept you in the loop on where I see challenges. I'm Team Noerr for sure and just need to find the sweet spot that's good for both of us.

No, you are absolutely correct.

1) Standardization would be the day rate + trailers & fuel. The FSC is the only difference I believe. The average fuel per mile is ~$1.00, but FSC only covers $0.62-$.68 / mile.
- The $2.30 / mile above that seems excessive to me.
- BUT - we were going to track all the accessorial charges for you, instead of charge you like Ryder.
- Stop charges / load. (We don't have that - but it looks like that's an additional $150 a day per a 2 load project?)

2) Us too. It's the market right now. The NEW ones I am getting cost are range from $300-$1600 (that guy was nuts). Our average right now is just shy of $600 plus insurance. So, there is some margin, but not enough to make it a profit center. We are also addressing the GPS item. The tracking costs are ~$800 a month for EVERYTHING WE HAVE, that's the Tablets, ELD's and such etc, but a new tracking device & tracking is $145 / trailer + $10 / month. We were working on getting the battery powered ones we have directly wired, but it is taking too long for now, and the supply chain has been a bugger for sure. Anything new we would add I'd share all lease contracts with you, I'm looking at multiple sources just to get it done, and quickly. Not worried about margin on the trailers, because it just gets us more work in the end. Open to adding these new ones if you'd like.

I think we are certainly on the same page - that was why the drop in the rate / change the trailers over. $1000 a day + actual fuel felt safe for us, with the caveat that if our fleet average is under 6.5 MPG we credit the difference as idle costs. I'd drop it half way between Ryder and $1000 to make it happen, which would be $964. (Would open books and share invoices / exact costs on that end - so you'd see / get our discount rates).

I think it is a good option, and, while we are a bit different, and the first, I think it is a good compromise to get to the next steps / iteration of the contract.
- We drop the rate for trailers. Move them to $600 / month + fuel on current 35, and actual rate on any new leases.
- We drop the rate to compete. Move down to $964 a day. As many units as needed, but 5 guaranteed (7 when it increases to 14+ a day).
- We don't charge extra for services. No accessories, but track for you to bill, no stop charges. (Saves $150 a day).
- SemiCab gives us first option on freight. Gives us the first option to add trucks as the freight grows.
- SemiCab pays actual fuel (with caveat for efficient travel). Gives us the stability to do the work, but still requires observation / review on our end for MPG efficiency.
- It allows SemiCab to utilize the trailers with other vendors.
- This keeps us responsible for fuel average & costs, as you can see discounts and performance.
- This keeps you responsible for adding additional freight to us as we grow.

Win / win on all sides in my opinion.

Thoughts?

Scott

For reference as far as actuals.

Ryder has increased their lease costs to almost $4500 a month for a truck. Up from $3500 a year ago.
Milestone units are up from $285 (units I've had for 2 years) to $485 /month for more recent units.
NETS/HALE/TST average $605 a month, but are up as high as $675 / month.

Driver / truck / taxes / insurance per year is (average) $220,400 / unit.

Additional costs:
Lease charges are .08 mile / truck and .04 mile / trailer.
July fuel cost was (on average) $0.874 / mile. (Unless it goes up again).
Or a total of $1.00 / mile we run. (.874+.12, not including miles on the trailers other vendors use.)

I'm sharing this in the interest of, like you, full disclosure.

Things we aren't catching:

ELD & Tracking - geotab / Tmobile costs.
Overhead / dispatch costs.
Office parking if we get a place in york.
Repairs / maintenance / accidents.

We cannot, I repeat, cannot compete with Ryder on a simple pricing program, unless all other costs are pass through. I think you understand that though as a general rule, considering 1/2 our units are FROM them!

Hey Scott,

Just catching up on emails from earlier yesterday. I did work on this over the weekend but I received the additional request for that breakdown of average costs. All of these things should have been covered the first time around, so I'm not all that upset that we're getting on the same page this time. We should be able to nail this down this week. There's still a few lingering questions I need to answer for Ajesh, but i think we'll get it over the finish line.

Scott,

Please note that we have not received detailed account statement from you to be able to reconcile our accounts. While we have provided to you a complete list of invoices to be paid with amounts, credits if any and details of payments made earlier that would be adjusted.

The board has asked us to hire an external agency to conduct a complete audit on all invoices from your company due to discrepancies internal accounting team found and our inability to reconcile with you. We have shortlisted an audit company to conduct this audit and would soon be finalizing the SOW.

Please expect this process to start soon and this agency to contact you for further details.

Ajesh,
We provided confirmation of previous payments and final status of outstanding invoices (which were already approved and recognized by your team) in multiple communications. I see here that you are referencing the difference of credits paid on a specific invoice. I would be willing to accept your final disbursement of $92,877.61 and consider accounts closed and other debt written off. I understand your desire to have an audit internally - that is your prerogative and on your own time. However, these invoices were approved 3 months ago, and you've had plenty of time to review. Your team approved them, and subsequently noted that they were approved and due in multiple following communications. It is not our responsibility to wait while you conduct your audit over less than 4% of an invoice.

I have already submitted a claim to Hudson this morning per last week's email. Pending that investigation I will be filing criminal charges for all outstanding invoices. If remittance is made today to ACH tomorrow I will forgo both actions.

Thank you.
