I think we would probably just do this prospectively, but we can discuss.

Hi Jeff – I was going to work on reviewing the current freight allocation, and I was wondering if this is something we would anticipate doing an entry to correct for 2017 or something we would just change methodology on starting in 2018. Thanks!

Julie

All,

Emma and Julie looked into the shipping costs for Addiction Treatment and found a couple of issues with the pivot table. They worked with Rich and Rose to refine the analysis and the cost is slightly lower than the original projection, but more than we've been allocating to the business.

Let me know if you would like to discuss further.

Thanks,
Jeff

I have a report from Rich Loeschner and also one from Rose Adam that identify shipping costs to clinics. I am now waiting on a report that shows all shipping cost for FedEx Priority (Tranzact). Thanks,

Emma

Probably need to discuss with Connie. We need to try to isolate the AT shipping costs.

Julia,

I have attached a file for the Hobart location 423 freight for this year (Is Addiction treatment, just Hobart?). Normally freight is by location, not by product line. I think the Hobart freight is allocated to the product lines at month end based on sales $. If a specific carrier is used exclusively for a product line, then I can pull the data for that carrier. I should have time tomorrow to discuss further if needed.

Thanks!

Subject: Freight Question

Hi Connie – I was wondering if you could confirm whether you manage freight costs for the Generics business and would have visibility to freight specifically for shipment of Addiction Treatment products to clinics. We have a report of FedEx charges (which we understand to be the primary carrier for AT) however we were unsure as to how to distinguish between shipment of AT product vs. other product. Happy to further discuss as needed if this requires further clarification or context.

Thank you!
